

Emil Kang

Program Director for Arts and Cultural Heritage, The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation

No stranger to the orchestras field, Emil Kang previously served as Executive and Artistic Director of Carolina Performing Arts at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and in a variety of administrative roles with symphony orchestras across the country, including as President and Executive Director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. He has also held roles with the Seattle Symphony and the American Composers Orchestra and served as a League Orchestra Management Fellow. A violinist from an early age, Emil was appointed by President Barack Obama to the National Council on the Arts in 2012.
