

ONE GOAL: TO SERVE THE FIELD

Orchestras bring people together to create musical experiences that are powerful, moving, and transformative. It's the way we at the League of American Orchestras see our role, too: bringing to bear the power of countless stakeholders to do things that can be uniquely achieved through collective action and national leadership.

Numbers can't tell the whole story, but they can give you an idea of how much the League team cares about our members, the orchestra field, and the artform.
